

Design goals:

Based on time stamped sensor data received from two embedded devices (ESP32), develop a time sync protocol for time synchronization. The data will be received by a raspberry pi device, and the synchronization protocol will run on the raspberry pi device.